Trivia :

Scott had his first COVID jab at the beginning of the week and Amanda looked after him as he had a bad reaction to it.

Gordon finishes Barnsley Bob Ross's picture of Shergar completing the first half in a style that doesn't quite match the standard of the rear half.

The conversation between Fairbanks & Scott regarding wallpaper is in reference to the controversy around the refurbishing of the flat of Boris Johnson.

The run of BNI is discussed to be ending with episode #65 or #66 after the bands have started to get their first bookings but....it will be back!

Ringo gives Scott a late birthday present of a Val Doonican early songbook.

Bjorn is in the final fortnight of his University education.

Bjorn introduces his segment as "Folking About" but then refers to it as "Folking Around".

There is a short Barnsley Bob Ross clip at the end of the show after the final Test Card.

Facebook thinks Scott's trying to sell pre-show nerves tonight. He has had to start it a couple of times as it kept cutting out.

Santo & Johnny are the opener. Followed by Therapy.

A rainbow tank top with a small flowered shirt is the order of the evening. Plus Dennis The Menace and Mike Harding badges.

Scott's off to get himself sorted for the main show.

General:

Scott saw something on Twitter that made him chuckle: "There are two types of Tory voter, the millionaires and the misguided. To find out which one you are - look in your wallet."

Amanda is wearing a Beaker T-shirt.

Chris from tonight's main show guests, McShane & Shaw, used to teach the children in Scott's class ukulele (when he was a teacher).

A colourful number up first...it's Joni Mitchell's Big Yellow Taxi.

There's been a hint that one of Scott's family members will be the special guest in next week's show. The clue included the word 'rolling'.

Second song is the Soft Cell classic, Tainted Love.

The next song is one Scott has never done live before. It's The Who, Pictures Of Lily.

Then, after a discussion about how well their tomatoes are doing, Scott plays Bob Dylan's Don't Think Twice, It's Alright.

A Coral song now. It's Dreaming Of You.

The final song is one Amanda likes to sing along to. It's The Human League's Don't You Want Me.

Ends, Scott: "God bless, good night."
